Monthly Commentary

The Resources Fund continues to show good performance, rising +1.7% in May. On a 12-month basis, the Fund is now up +15.2%.

We have maintained our lead over the Small Cap Resources index, which rose +8.1% over the same timeframe. Pleasingly, we continue to stack positive months, underpinned by exceptionally low volatility (4.4%).

Commodities markets are doing what they do best...showing mixed signals, with increasing unpredictability and widening disparity between each commodity and their end markets. That being said, the Fund's primary exposures to East Coast Gas, Critical Minerals and Gold is prudent in these times, and is proving resilient.

The macro-economic outlook is uncertain and this is weighing on the investment markets view of commodity demand, however, most industry participants we speak to believe that supply is going to be the bigger issue. This dichotomy is, in our view, driving share price volatility.

Fund Review

With this month's performance, the Fund is up +34% since our first investment was made, versus the Index which is up +6% over the same period. We are proud to highlight that we have also consistently beaten the ASX200 accumulation index over the past two years.

PURE Resources Fund Capital Raising

The PURE Resources Fund is now fully deployed and has embarked upon a concerted fundraising campaign to fund a deal pipeline over 2024.

Our strategy is working well, with the Fund outperforming peers and benchmarks for some time now. The Fund has demonstrated consistent positive performance since its inception three years ago. Interest levels have been strong from both existing and new investors to date.

Chart(s) of the Month

Panda Diplomacy, it's a term we have heard quite a bit this last week as China's Premier, and his significant entourage made an official diplomatic visit to Australia. This month, we wonder if this is the precursor to something more.

In recent times we have noticed quite a diverging trend across commodity prices, with many of these moving against fundamental long-term drivers. In the series of charts below, it's worth noting that much of this recent price spike in activity is driven by stockpiling of resources in China. Is China getting ahead of the curve to prepare for a major stimulus programme? If so, the Australian Resources sector is likely to move sharply higher. Good news for us, and good news for investors.

The Chinese Government's strategy appears focused on restoring balance to its beleaguered property sector. Accordingly, we don't believe large-scale construction projects are a feature in this programme, so this cannot be a new raw materials' demand driver on its own. We wait to see the outcome, but it's worth noting the interest for commodities is spreading throughout our investable universe, our existing investments and even resulting in inbound inquiries within our Fund. Something big seem to be on the way, and that is definitely worth keeping an eye on.
